

MYSTERIOUS RAYMOND IS PHILADELPHIA AMERICAN

Elliott Will Make Protest Again

YESTERDAY'S DIRTY TRICK Freeport Hiring all the Big Players Available to Cop Pennant

"Raymond," the mysterious pitcher who downed La Crosse for Freeport yesterday, and who, according to telegraphic dispatches was known to none but Moriarity, is a pitcher of the Philadelphia Americans who, because of having a slight kink in his pitching arm, was farmed out some time ago to the Northern league. He has been nursing himself, and that he is in good shape again is demonstrated by the quality of baseball he put up yesterday against La Crosse.

President Elliott said this morning that the methods employed by Freeport to win the pennant were abominable, and that he would see that yesterday's game did not count against La Crosse.

"I have wired to Chicago with regard to Raymond," said Mr. Elliott, "and expect to know all about him tonight."

A large delegation will accompany President Elliott to Freeport tomorrow night, in order to witness Saturday's and Sunday's games.

It was reported about the city last night that Ban Johnson had rendered a decision on the protest of Elliott against Lelivelt, in which he fined the Boston Americans $500, Freeport $200 and declared the games in which Lelivelt played and Freeport won, should be played over. This is not authenticated, however, and President Elliott being out of the city could not be seen regarding the matter this afternoon.

If the protest against yesterday's game and that against Freeport's two victories here stand, La Crosse will win the pennant without taking the now necessary two games of the Freeport series.

LIST OF THE NEW SIMPLIFIED WORDS

300 in Book Issued by the Public Printer at Washington

Public Printer Stillings at Washington has sent out to newspapers a list of the three hundred words adapted to the new simplified method of spelling authorized by President Roosevelt, and adopted for use in all governmental departments. Already a large share of the university professors have agreed to use the system in their correspondence, though there is no certainty that the system will be adopted generally throughout the country, unless school associations shall bring it into usage by adopting the system in general instruction.

The publications which the public printer has issued relative to simplified spelling consist of a pamphlet, a small pocket brochure, and a wall card containing the 300 words for quick reference, put up in sets, and offered for sale at 25 cents per set. Postal money order, express money order, bank draft, or certified check, payable to the "Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C.," will bring the set showing the system. Only one copy will be sold to each person.

The pamphlets show the reasons for the changes, the system under which it is operative, etc.

The complete list of words, showing the new and the old style of spelling follows:

DEAD FOR MONTHS; RISES FROM TOMB

Denver Man Comes to Life and Marries Girl Who Rescues him

DENVER, Colo., Sept. 13.—After being alive in the family vault at Kansas City from Jan. 9 to the middle of May, Frederick J. Harvey, one of the wealthiest men in Kansas, came back to life Tuesday, Sept. 4, married his Denver sweetheart, Miss Lily Godfrey who was instrumental in restoring him to life, Sept. 5, departed on his honeymoon the same day and will arrive here next week to visit relatives.

Mr. Harvey is the son of Bernard Harvey and grandson of the deceased Frederick Harvey, the millionaire owner of all the eating houses on the Santa Fe line and most of them on the Frisco. The family is well known throughout the United States. At the time of Mr. Harvey's death, as the family still terms his entombment, he had contracted a severe cold, which developed into pneumonia. His already tuberculosis system was not strong enough to throw off the additional trouble, and physicians pronounced him dead. Death from poisoned gas arising from the lungs was given as the cause.

Although all animation and respiration had ceased, his affianced wife, Miss Godfrey, would have it that he was not dead. She wept and moaned, took the death watch upon herself and would not leave the casket until it was placed on a marble slab next the caskets of his grandfather and aunt in the family's tightly closed vault.

For months Mr. Harvel lay in the company of his dead ancestors, until Miss Godfrey crazed by the feeling which grew upon her that her beloved was not dead, returned to Kansas City and begged especially with the family to accompany her to the vault. The mother, who was devoted to her son, eagerly accompanied her, and the two went together to the family plot. Entering the vault for the first time since the burial, they stood astounded at the door. The casket was open. Sinister fears crept over them. That a tragedy had occurred neither doubted. But the puzzling question was, who had opened the casket? Trembling, Miss Godfrey approached it to learn the worst. Astonished beyond expression, she found Mr. Harvey just as he was on the day of the burial. The lips and finger nails were

GREAT CROWDS AT SALEM FAIR TODAY

Trains Carry Large Delegations of La Crosse People to Expo.

Under a cloudless sky the La Crosse county fair at West Salem this morning opened to one of the biggest crowds in its history. Had it not been that the weather was somewhat sold this morning, there would no doubt have been an even larger delegation from La Crosse. As it was the noon trains were crowded with visitors who took in the races this afternoon at the fair grounds.

The fair is without question the best held in the county and every available inch of space for attractions is crowded. The stock exhibits, the ladies' department, the department of agricultural exhibits, dairy products, etc., are unexcelled.

The race program for the week includes fine events and the special "midway" and other attractions on the grounds make the exhibition one of the most alluring and entertaining which ever been given by the association.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 13.—At a hearing in Chicago Sept. 18, on waiving thirty days' notice of change in export and import rates, the interstate commerce commission will probe into the controversy between the Harriman-Hill lines and competing roads in transcontinental business.

The Union, Southern and Northern Pacifics, the Great Northern, Burlington and allied lines, Hill-Harriman steamship lines in the Pacific are charged by competitors with having formed a huge pool to control the transcontinental export and import business and Pacific shipping.

PROGRESSIVENESS AT THE Y. M. C. A.

At a recent meeting of the board of directors of the Y. M. C. A. it was decided to get a number of new games for the young men and boys, and a room will be fitted up for them.

An effort is being made by Mr. Stafford and Mr. Dawson to make one night out of every week a popular night, when members are invited to come and spend the evening at the "Y" and bring one friend in view of obtaining him as a member.

Five bible classes have been organized, two for young men, one for the intermediates, and two for the younger boys. The course in the classes for the younger boys will be that of drawing maps and tracing the incidents in the life of Christ.

A membership committee meeting will be held Friday night in which plans will be laid with regard to the fall campaign. The Phi Alpha Pi will hold their first meeting tonight and supper will be served to the members after which a literary meeting will be held.

QUEER PLOTTING IN ECHO OF AN OLD CASE

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 13.—Plots and counterplots, love, avarice and intrigue figure in an astonishing sequel to the breach of promise suit by which Mabel Beland mulcted John O'Neill, Chicago's aged track elevation expert, some time ago. The new developments came to light in Joliet yesterday through the filing of a suit for $15,000 by John C. Taylor, former coachman for the "father of track elevation," against Mrs. Ellen De Burnell, divorced wife of both himself and O'Neill.

The suit, which Taylor declares he brought to recover money that Mrs. De Burnell agreed to pay him and to which he was entitled as her husband, reveals the fact that Mrs. De Burnell was twice married to Taylor, and that, after the first marriage, she found that she was a bigamist because of a mistaken belief that she had been divorced from O'Neill. The case further has developed the information, hitherto not made public, that the day after Mrs. O'Neill supposed she had been divorced from her first husband she was married to Taylor at Blue Island.

Mrs. De Burnell, it appears, first was married to Taylor in November, 1898, following a period of alleged infatuation on her part of O'Neill's valet and coachman. Only two days had passed when she received word from her lawyer that the divorce decree had not been entered because Judge Dibell of the Will county circuit court had discovered errors in the bill. Finding herself with two husbands, she filed another suit, and Jan. 2, 1899, Judge Dibell granted her a decree. A hurried trip followed to Louisville, Ky., where she and Taylor took solemn vows for a second time. Their marital ties remained intact until 1903, when she was granted a divorce from Taylor by the late Judge Murray F. Tuley. Since then she has been living in Joliet.

To the charge of Mrs. De Burnell that Taylor's present suit is an attempt at extortion comes the counterblast from Taylor that she obtained a divorce from "Honest John" O'Neill in order to marry him, although making pretense at the time that it was because of relations between O'Neill and Mabel Boland.

In substantiation of his contention Taylor asserts that he has nearly 100 burning letters written to him by Mrs. De Burnell in which she addresses him as her "seetheart" and "baby boy." One of the tender missives, dated Dec. 28, 1898, which was given out by a representative of Taylor, is as follows:

"My Dearest Sweetheart Jacky:—I expected that my case would come up today but find that it will not come up before the court until next week. You can be sure that there will be no mistake about it this time. My dear baby boy, I can't tell you how much I love you and want to be with you."

Following this was a score or more cross-marks, which Taylor says stood for kisses in the language of Mrs. O'Neill. The letter continues: "I love you more than I can tell and more than anyone in the world. I am lonesome without you and wish you were here so I could give you a great big hug. Y. L. W. SUSIE."

The letters were written during a period of eight years and were signed "Susie," the name Mrs. De Burnell is said to have used in her relations with Taylor. According to Taylor, the initials at the bottom stand for "your loving wife." The last letter, it is asserted, as written Nov. 8 last and is said to effectually dispose of the contention of Mrs. De Burnell that Taylor used compulsion in order to make her marry him.

Taylor also alleged that she obtained a divorce from him without his knowledge and that he did not learn of the proceeding until Aug. 8 last. For nearly two years after the divorce was obtained in Judge Tuley's court, he says, he lived with her as her husband, and during that period passed in Joliet as her nephew. Taylor is twenty years younger than his former wife.

OCCUPIES GRAVE HE DUG HIMSELF

FULTON, Ky., Sept. 13.—Colonel "Jim" Broder, a pioneer capitalist and eccentric old citizen of Fulton, died yesterday. Broder two years ago had a solid rock hewn into a grave for himself, and bought a casket, in which he had lain to get a good fit. He kept a piece of meat in the rock for a year to test its preservative qualities. He was wrapped in forty yards of linen, which he had purchased some time ago for a shroud. Broder left instructions that he wanted to be buried forthwith, "without any frills," as he often said, so he was laid in the strange grave a few hours after the breath left his body. A bottle of old liquor was interred with the remains of "Colonel Jim," as he was known in western Kentucky.

LAYER OF FIRST ATLANTIC CABLE

(Tribune Special Service.)

LONDON, Sept. 13.—The death is reported of Capt. Henry Augustus Moriarity, one of the principals of the laying of the first Atlantic cable. The captain was born in 1815 and entered the navy in early youth. He was prominent in the Syrian naval operations of 1840 and was master of a ship during the Russian war. But it was work as master of cable-laying ships which obtained most recognition for Capt. Moriarity. He commanded H. M. S. Agamemnon, which with the U. S. frigate Niagara, laid the Atlantic cable in 1857, and spliced it in mid-ocean. It was a tremendous effort for a little result. Only a few messages were transmitted when the cable retired from business. Though in his 92nd year, Capt. Moriarity was quite active until a few days before his death.

UMPIRE IS FOLLOWED BY OUR NEW MINISTER

What promises to be the most notable engagement of the season at the La Crosse theater is that of "The Umpire" which comes Monday, Sept. 17. This musical comedy boasts the prestige of the longest run in the history of Chicago theatricals, and by those who have seen it is pronounced worthy in every way of its extraordinary vogue. The elements which combine to give "The Umpire" this popularity are the modern nature of its themes—the national games, baseball and football—politics, "graft" diplomacy and other subjects of current interest together with its music, and its comedy, both of which are in the first of their class. No musical comedy ever produced in the past decade contains so many song hits as "The Umpire" and the score is considered the master achievement of its composer Joseph E. Howard. It is enough to know that the comedy kept Chicago laughing for nearly a year.

The production is under the direction of Manager Harry Askin of the Grand Opera House, Chicago, which assures a rich equipments of scenes and costumes. In the company selected to play the piece, are Fred Macy, late leading comedian with "Piff, Paff, Pouff," Guelma Baker, Edith Yerrington, Harry Hanlon, Helena Sellinger, Margaret MacDonald, a prima donna of great beauty and talent; Bradlee Martin, Raymond Wells, Ethel Pennington and others including the beauty chorus of sixty and the "broilers."

Our New Minister.

Victor Hugo's Jean Valjean in "Les Miserables" released from the prison galleys after torturing years of punishment is fiction that has stirred human tenderness and compassion more profoundly perhaps than any book written before or since of like character. In Denman Thompson's and Geo. W. Ryer's comedy of "Hard-Scrabble," N. H., a convict released after the service of a sentence, attempts to start life anew, as does Jean Valjean. It is a moving tale, his efforts, and creates a lasting impression like the Hugo tale even though every minute of the drama there is a laugh at or with the fourteen country types in the play who help or hinder the convicts' attempts at reformation. This big metropolitan success will be seen here at the New La Crosse theater on Monday, Oct. 12.

S.S.S. PURELY VEGETABLE

The forests and fields are abundantly supplied with vegetation of various kinds, not alone to beautify the land, but to furnish the ingredients for making a remedy for every ill and ailment of mankind. Medicines made from the roots herbs and barks, which nature has placed at the disposal of man, act better in every way than do strong mineral mixtures and concoctions—the products of the chemist's shop. Mineral medicines work dangerously on the delicate parts of the system, especially the stomach and bowels, by eating out the lining membrane, producing chronic dyspepsia and often entirely ruining the health. S. S. S. enjoys the distinction of being the only purely vegetable remedy on the market. It is made entirely of gentle-acting, healing, purifying roots, herbs and barks, possessing properties that build up and invigorate all parts of the system, in addition to removing all impurities and poisons from the blood. S. S. S. cures Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula, Sores and Ulcers, Skin Diseases, Contagious Blood Poison and all disorders of the blood by cleansing the circulation of the cause, and it cures safely as well as permanently. It is as safe for children and old people as for those in the prime of life, and is the one blood medicine that may be used without fear of bad after-effects. Book on the blood sent free to all who write.

ry of the sport have the championships excited so much interest as this year. This is due chiefly to the large number and prominence of the contestants. The entries come from New York, Chicago, Denver and other points. The feature of the meet will be the strenuous competition between Daniels of New York, Handy of Chicago, and Mark Schwartz of St. Louis.

Today's program included the following events: 440-yard championship, 200-yard championship breast stroke; plunge for distance championship, 50-yard junior, 200-yard intermediate, water polo.

The contest for the water polo championship is attracting much attention. There are five teams entered, two from the Chicago A. A., one from the New York A. C., and one each from the Missouri A. C. and St. Louis Central Y. M. C. A. The championship will, however, resolve itself into a contest between the New York A. C. and the Chicago A. A. The Chicago A. A. team holds the championship, having defeated the New York A. C. team, holders of the title, in the indoor championships at New York last February.

INVESTIGATION AT ELLIS ISLAND

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—James B. Reynolds, who was one of the President's commissioners to investigate conditions in the packing-houses in Chicago, is at work on Ellis Island under personal instructions of Mr. Roosevelt, inquiring into conditions there. Just why Mr. Reynolds is sent there is not known at this time, but it is learned that charges reflecting on the treatment of immigrants have reached Washington and complaint has also been made as to the manner in which some of the contracts have been administered.

Mr. Reynolds arrived on the island last Friday, accompanied by a Mr. Patton, during the absence of Robert Watchorn, commissioner of immigration, and has been busy ever since.

Complaint has been made that the money changing of the island is open to criticism. The privilege of converting the coin and currency of aliens into American money is held by the American Express Company.

Complaints also have been made about the manner in which the baggage of immigrants has been handled. "Under some administration the custom of detaining immigrants for long periods, for no apparent reason save the will of irresponsible inspectors, grew into abuse.

MAGNATE'S SON IS JILTED

CLEVELAND, Sept. 13.—Cleveland society was given a great surprise by the recalling of invitations to the wedding of Miss Nancy Lovis and George R. Frasch, son of Herman Frasch, the Standard Oil magnate. Mrs. S. C. Lovis, the foster-mother of Miss Lovis, and who is prominent socially, has announced that the wedding has been indefinitely postponed. Friends of Miss Lovis, however, say that Mr. Frasch was jilted by his fiancée, following a quarrel with her foster-mother.

The wedding had been set for the last Saturday and all preparations made for it. The announcement was made upon the return from New York of Miss Lovis. Yesterday Miss Lovis embarked on the freight steamer L. C. Hanna for a trip up the lakes to rest and escape the publicity attendant upon her action.

Is Considered a Bell.

Miss Lovis is the adopted daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Lovis. She has a fine education and is considered a belle in Cleveland society. Mr. Frasch, whose home until recently was in Cleveland, also is well known here. He was educated in one of the universities in Germany, and has won distinction in chemistry. The Frasch family lately has spent much time in New York City.

No reason is given by those who say Miss Lovis jilted young Frasch. Frasch's protests they affirm, were quickly silenced by her statement that her decision was final. This is denied by Mrs. Lovis. At her home 1928 East Ninety-seventh street, while she would give no reason for the postponement of the wedding, she made this statement regarding it:

"If the engagement has been broken I have not been told of it. Had it been broken I think my daughter would not be wearing her engagement ring as she is this morning."

Her Second Engagement.

This is Miss Lovis' second engagement, the former suitor being George H. Eichelberger, a lawyer of this city. She met Mr. Frasch last Christmas and friendship was soon followed by the engagement. The breaking of the engagement was sudden. Frasch had arrived here from New York and the final preparations were all completed, when, without warning, the invitations were recalled last Thursday.

THOUSANDS of discriminating beer drinkers have raised their voices in praise of MICHEL'S PERFECTION BEER

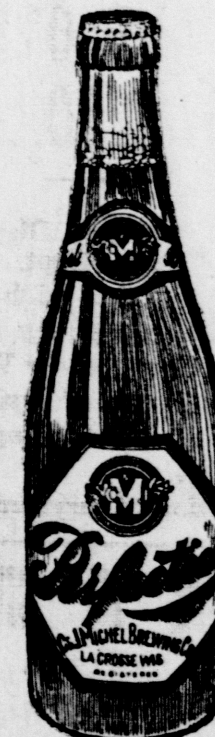

Because of its unique flavor, as a result of proper ageing, of proper fermentation and grade of ingredients used.

Because the old idea, that made the beer of days gone by distinctive in flavor, from the beer of the present day, is still adhered to.

Because of its nutritive and tonic qualities, which are undisputedly of the best known.

Because cleanliness is our watchword and purity our standard.

NORTH SIDE

ATTEND FUNERAL OF MRS. GWEN EVANS

J. T. Evans, a cement sidewalk man of West La Crosse, his sister, Mrs. H. B. Bresee, 330 North Twenty-first street, and his daughter, Miss Chloe Evans, left last evening via the Milwaukee road for Racine where they will attend the funeral of their mother, Mrs. Gwen Evans.

Deceased was 90 years of age and death was caused by old age, hastened by an attack of gangrene.

NORTH SIDE BRIEFS

Fred Paulson and daughters, Misses Adah and Anna of Caledonia street, have gone to Westby to spend a few days with relatives and friends.

Messrs. O. Simenson and Andrew Gilbertson are attending the West Salem fair.

Lars Instenes of the Larson-Nein Clothing company, attended the fair at West Salem today.

A. H. Mueller, formerly night clerk at the Grand Crossing depot has been transferred to the position of car clerk days at the yard office. His former position is being filled by Mr. Taylor.

Eddie Betzel, day operator at the "Q" yard office, is enjoying a vacation and former Night Operator C. W. Olson is in his place. E. Woods is now night operator there.

The Ladies Aid society will meet tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. K. Knutson of Charles street.

Mark Smith of West La Crosse, has returned to La Crosse from Dakota to make preparations for taking his family to the homestead which he has located upon there.

Mrs. Jacob Hahn is ill at her home on St. Andrew street.

The barbershops in the lower part of the North side will close hereafter at 8 o'clock every evening, Saturdays excepted.

A. L. Tucker has resigned his position as brakeman on the "Q" and has accepted another as solicitor for the Yeomen of America.

John Behling of Kane street, who as taken to the Lutheran hospital some time ago to be operated upon for varicose veins is getting along nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Schulze and family have moved to their residence on Charles street from Indian Hill.

Miss Hattie Echneller has returned from an extended visit at Leon, Wis.

G. Gilbertson, commercial traveler for the North Side Bottling works, has returned from an extended business trip throughout the west.

Miss Emily and Anna Gerkey have returned to their home at Waukon, Ia., after an extended visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Kennedy on Windsor street.

All the machinery of the North Side Bottling works has been installed in the new addition and several new machines added. Two large barns have also been built in the rear.

One of William Duncan's livery horses created a little excitement yesterday afternoon by making a fast run on the brick pavement of Milwaukee street. The horse is a very gentle animal and became frightened by the rumbling noise caused by some tin roofing which was in the back of the carriage. The driver succeeded in stopping the horse in front of the barn.

BIJOU'S BIG SHOW

The Bijou has a fine program this week. The feature act, Sanford and Darlington, are certainly clever people. Mr. Sanford does some very clever character impersonations beside being a good comedian, while Miss Darlington does some clever contortion work. Miss Darlington is claimed to be the only lady in the profession impersonating a Chinese lady.

Jones and Raymond, a first class musical team, are musicians of quality. Miss Raymond has an exceptionally sweet voice.

Cy Stebbins keeps the audience guessing with his seemingly awkward card manipulations. He proves to be a first class manipulator instead of a reuben which surprises and pleases the audience.

Neola, the juggler, is also clever. His juggling act in evening dress, blended with his genteel comedy is received with hearty applause.

The illustrated song by Lawrence Wall is entitled "When the Summer Breezes Blow." It is new and catchy.

The moving pictures this week are the great G. A. R. parade in Minneapolis and the "Lost Collar Button." They are worth the price of admission alone. The G. A. R. pictures were taken at an enormous expense by the Amalgamated Theater company.

A New Jersey Editor's Testimonial. M. T. Lynch, Editor of the Philadelphia Record, writes: "I have used many kinds of medicines for coughs and colds in my family but never anything so good as Foley's Honey and Tar. I cannot say too much in praise of it." Sold by O. T. Erhart.

On the Veldt

By FRANK H. SWEET

Copyright, 1906, by M. M. Cunningham

It was the dry season on the veldt, and the grass was burned down and half covered with yellow dust. Not a kraal was to be seen or a habitation, not a tree or shrub so far as the eye could reach—only the ochre brown earth stretching away and at last ending in the same level sky lines to the north and south and east and west, and crossing the sun blistered waste one little animate dot, the canvas covered wagon of a Boer family trekking with the sheep and cattle in search of a water course that had not dried up.

For three days had the dot been moving across the waterless waste, and for three days had the sun left the thirsty sky line in the east only to glare down pitilessly until it dropped behind the equally thirsty sky line in the west, and now the tongues of the cattle were hanging from their mouths and the sheep bleated piteously, and the small quantity of water brought along for the trekkers' own use was exhausted.

By the end of the second day they had expected to find water, but the deserted something less than a third of a mile away.

In the dim light they at first thought it a wild animal, and examined their rifles; then, as the object drew near, they made it out to be a man, and that he was on foot instead of horseback. But it was not until he had approached to within a few rods that they discovered he was very young, scarcely more than a boy, and that he was an outlander.

Now there is nothing more obnoxious to a Boer than an outlander or witlander—alien. He feels that their coming into the country threatens his institutions, and that the very object of their coming is wrong. The treasures of the earth belong to the earth, and should not be wrested away. The bustle and desire for change, for wealth, for investigating, even the progressive ideas of these outsiders are causes for suspicion and dislike. So when a cherry "Hello!" came from the wayfarer their answer was but a gruff and unintelligible grunt.

All this time the train was moving forward, but slowly, for oxen are plodding travelers. The boy was obliged to pause for the animals to pass, and he watched the long, straggling line with the interest of a newcomer. After the cattle and sheep and their guard came the creaking, unwieldy wagons, with their inspurred oxen. Beside the first of these wagons rode a large, broad faced man whose white hair and air of authority proclaimed him the head of the family. As he came oppothe Boer said, "My teams have not had water in three days, and God knows what may happen if the next river bed is like this one and the last."

The boy's face paled suddenly. "The river dry," he gasped. "Why, I counted on getting water there. I've only just enough with me to last one day." Then he forgot himself in concern for the cattle.

"You must turn back toward the place I've found," he cried authoritatively; "it's only five or six miles away. There's a hole in the river bed that has water, and it's thirty yards or more across and several feet deep. It will be enough to supply your herds for some weeks. And beyond it are three or four miles of good grazing where the soil has not yet become dry. If you keep on this course the cattle will all perish."

The Boer had straightened up, preparatory to riding on, but at this he turned sharply. "Water," he cried, "and plenty of it." He raised his hand to his mouth and called to the men in front. One of them rode back. To him he gave a quick, peremptory order. Then he turned back to the boy.

"Do you understand what you have done?" he demanded. "This place you have discovered will need water to work it, and if we use that, as we doubtless shall, you will lose all the benefit of your discovery for this season."

The boy threw back his head as stream counted on had proved but a dusty, sun dried depression, and for twenty-four hours they had followed its course, hoping to find some sink hole from which the water had not dried. Now they were pondering the necessity of seeking the next water course yet another twenty-four hours away. If that were dry also, what then?

Other families had trekked over this veldt before them, and more would follow, for this was the annual custom. When the dry season came and burned every vestige of green from the home grazing land, the Boers would load their families into the great wagons, drawn by many spans of oxen, and driving the sheep and cattle before them, seek the water courses that had not dried up. And there they would site the boy stepped forward. "Hello," he called again cheerfully. The man looked down at him, his face hardening, but he stopped.

"Well," he said harshly, "what do you want? Isn't it a little strange for a boy to be crossing the veldt without a horse?"

"Oh, I don't know," the boy answered carelessly. "I walked up from the coast three months ago. You see, I didn't have money enough for a horse and a good outfit, and I needed the outfit most. Besides, I was raised on a farm and am used to walking. A man I met carried my outfit to the mines, and I pegged on behind."

"And now you are going back home empty handed?" the Boer asked, sarcastically.

"No, indeed," quickly. "I didn't come here for fun. I'm going to college some time, and that takes money; and I've got half a dozen brothers and sisters who are planning for different things. It was easiest for me to leave, so all of them put in their savings toward my expenses. Of course I don't expect to get rich," frankly, "but I shall work hard to take back enough to get us all a good start."

The Boer grunted. "Why are you going back, then, without your outfit?" he demanded.

"Got to have something to eat," the boy answered easily. "I went to the mines first, but the only opening was to work for somebody else or to buy a claim at a fabulous price, so I shouldered my outfit and struck off prospecting. I kept it up three weeks, and now," his eyes flashing eagerly into the grim ones above him, "I believe I've found a spot that will turn me in a lot of money. But I'm out of provisions and must go back after a supply. I don't suppose you have any you would sell?"

"No," shortly, "but where's your outfit?" "Oh, I've concealed that in the sand. I guess it'll be all right. Anyway, there was nothing else to do. But I didn't stop you to talk about myself, coloring a little. I wanted to say that your cattle are awful thirsty. At home we would drop everything to furnish such cattle with water quick."

The Boer's face relaxed somewhat. "Even if there was no water between four days' journey?" he asked contemptuously. "You outlanders, who would do all things, can make rivers as you need them, I suppose?"

"There is the water course only one day's journey behind you," the boy retorted, "and your cattle show they were not attuned to there. No matter the hurry a man may be in, it is a crime to neglect beasts as you have yours."

"The water course behind was dry, as this is, and as the next one may be, though to ward off the insinuation.

"The cattle need the water more than the land," he returned. "If the water is gone when I return with the provisions, I can go and prospect somewhere else, and perhaps come back after the rains set in. The folks at home would not want me to put by money at the expense of suffering."

The Boer leaned down and held out his hand.

"It is well," he said simply. "You will go back to the basin with us. We do not sell provisions, but we have plenty which we will give you. And it may be," with a friendly twinkle banishing the last trace of hardness from his eyes, "that we will be able to advance the success of your object here."

"Chamois" Skins.

Charles C. Druehling has written an article in the Journal of Pharmacy on chamois skins. The commercial article of that name, he says, is really oil tanned sheep or lamb skin lining. The supply of skins from the chamois animal is very limited. Enough could not be obtained in a year to supply the United States for more than a single day. He made special inquiry on a visit to Switzerland about the annual crop of the chamois skins and ascertained that from 5,000 to 6,000 skins would be a fair average yearly crop. This skin is heavier than the skin of the sheep or lamb, also much coarser. For strength and durability the chamois skin is preferable, but for ordinary use and appearance the oil tanned sheepskin lining would in most instances be preferred.

EYE EXAMINATION ROLLS ENGINEERS

BURLINGTON SYSTEM THREATENED WITH GENERAL STRIKE

Drastic Rule Operates to Place Many Old and Skilled Engine Drivers on Unimportant and Unremunerative Runs

J. J. Hill Appealed to Have Obnoxious Order Rescinded

The effect of the order was so sweeping that Grand Chief Warren S. Stone of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers at midnight telegraphed James J. Hill at St. Paul requesting an immediate conference.

"Many railroads for years have enforced rules requiring a rigid physical examination," said Vice Grand Master Cadle of the engineers' brotherhood, "but the Burlington regulation is extreme in that it practically debar from service men whose vision is slightly imperfect."

The rule in question pertains to engineers and establishes a standard for eyesight said to be more rigid than any thus far enforced by the railroads of this country. It will necessitate more care upon the part of those starting in the railroad service to see that they do not abuse the eyes and suffer them to strain by reading, etc., in poor light. The use of glasses on such occasions will be the means of promoting healthy and strong eyes. Few people realize the importance of the care of their eyes in this day and age and weak eyes are the result when they become middle aged. The effect of the new Burlington rule, it is asserted will be practically to fix an age limit for railroad employees.

A large per cent of railroad men are obliged to adopt glasses as an aid to vision after they have reached middle life, to enable them to read with comfort, but do not use them in running. The early use of glasses for reading purposes only tends to keep the distance sight perfect in old age.

Glasses for this purpose must be perfect in every way and care exercised in their adoption for your eyes. We know of no better man than H. C. Evenson, the eyesight specialist, at the Park store.

Toast.

Butter a slice of bread, then toast the side not buttered. When nicely brown turn the buttered side to the fire long enough to let the butter soak into the bread. This makes a much nicer toast for invalids and elderly people than the ordinary toast.

Borneo Clubs.

The famous savage clubs of Borneo were modeled after a thorny fruit which grows wild in that island.

Shoe Blacking Flower.

An Australian flower of the nibsness species is often used as blacking, the juice squeezed from four blossoms giving enough liquid to coat a shoe with a fine luster.

Fowling and Falconry.

Fowling and falconry were practiced by the ancient Greeks, but were carried to greater perfection in mediaeval England.

The Burning Tree.

The leaves and stems of the "burning tree" of India are covered with stinging hairs after the manner of the common nettle, but are of a far more virulent nature. When touched the sensation felt is as of being burned with red hot iron, the pain extending over other parts of the body and lasting several days.

THE PEACE PROCLAMATION.

The editorial writer of The Evening Common Stock, with a stroke or more of his pen, has eliminated the stalwart-halibreed fight in this state. He says that, "The stalwart faction, so far as it represents opposition to progressive legislation in this state, has ceased to exist." He adds that, "The great body of (stalwart) republicans who fought Senator La Follette's measures in three legislative sessions and two campaigns, has become convinced of the correctness of these policies and has united with the reform element in further work along the same lines." A sudden and touching conversion, indeed!

And the Evening Common Stock can prove it. As conclusive evidence it cites the fact that the Milwaukee Sentinel, "long the organ of the extreme element of the stalwart faction," says, "The primary election of last week was the first real trial that the law has been subjected to, and we are frank to say that in the main it worked better than we expected."

The same thing that caused the Evening Common Stock, in the same issue, to say that, "Senator La Follette is a fluent speaker, but he has not yet been able to find words to express what he thinks of the primary election results," caused the Sentinel to find unlooked for satisfaction in the workings of the primary law. It "worked better than expected" because it defeated the candidate of Senator La Follette for governor, because it returned Babcock to the senate, because it defeated Cochems for congress, because it whipped McGovern for prosecuting attorney in Milwaukee. That they are moved by the same reasoning needs no further proof than the fact that after the Sentinel has fought McGovern, the Evening Common Stock takes huge delight in suggesting that "Little McGovern * * * run again and get what he wants so badly."

The Evening Common Stock gave sufficient evidence of being a La Follette-Lenroot sheet until Mr. Connor blew in with a bundle. Then it came out as a Davidson paper incidentally, but an anti-La Follette paper primarily. It could not do anything else. Mr. Cargill does not want his papers to support laws to control public service companies of which he is heart and soul of many. The organ of the La Crosse Brush Electric company and the Edison Light & Power Company and the La Crosse & South-eastern and the Green Bay & Western and the Ice Trust and the Coal Trust and the Wool Trust and the City Street Railway Company—the organ of all these public utilities cannot seek laws to tie their robber hands. They are sneaking back into the party that they may the more readily betray it.

The fact is that the Pfister railroad, street car, gas and electric and inter urban crowd are as hostile to these laws that tie their hands, as ever. They must be. With them politics is business, not quest of good government. They must fight and be fought. There is no peace, no compromise. Right here in La Crosse we have just finished that fight, and Dr. Miller is the republican legislative nominee over Mr. Durland who was defeated because he refused to commit himself to the sort of legislation Governor Davidson is going to champion. Ask Mr. Holley and Mr. Van Auker and Senator Withee if the fight is over. They will tell you "not until h—I freezes over." It cannot be over so long as there are commercial interests that conflict with the rights of the public. The harmony racket is the old game of getting into the confidence of the reformers so that the public can be betrayed as it has been in the past.

OF ASSESSMENTS AND ANIMOSITIES

The Tribune hopes it will not be misunderstood as to the proposition to remove a certain assessor, should that affair come before the city council Friday night. There is ample need of two assessors in any city the size of La Crosse. One man cannot do justice to the task. It is of the utmost importance that property be valued accurately, and to arrive at the value of all the property in this city will employ the time of two competent men.

We do not presume that the assessor in question is to be released because he is "not needed," or because he is "bull headed." It is a known fact that wealthy men, some of them holding public office, are incensed because the assessors have very properly raised the valuation on their properties. It is also a fact that an alderman who is on the committee that passes upon matters of this sort has long been in his quiet way, unfriendly to the assessor in question. When it is recalled that one man who figures here turned in the valuation of his own property at something like one-tenth what it would cost and perhaps one-eighth of what he would sell it for, and is taxed upon this misrepresentation as to the worth of his holdings, it is not surprising that the committee is expected to advise the removal of an assessor who recognizes no codfish when assessing property.

We advise the city aldermen to scrutinize this affair with caution, and to decline to be made parties to a transaction that has not the color of justice, but is rather the result of selfish personal motives not defensible in the open. We believe that so good an alderman as Mr. Emery has been misled, and we are confident that he will not be satisfied to take anyone's word for the fact, but will investigate and will decline to be "used" to grind anybody's political axes.

A few lines of type, beginning with the word "wanted," will bring changes, untangle tangles and solve riddles in your daily life.

JUST LIFE

"Qualified"
Some years ago Wisconsin was the mecca for Iowa people who wanted to get married quick and no questions asked. But they tightened up the law over there several years ago and now Wisconsin lovers, too ardent to await the law's delay, tie themselves to Iowa. How's that for poetry? It happened before we knew it. Queer how the mention of love will lead to poetry. But we digress. Jas. Boutin, Jr., and Mrs. Addie McCarty arrived on the evening train Saturday and registered at the Allamakee from Bayfield, Wis. The necessary legal documents were secured from Clerk Colsch and after supper Justice Ericson was called in and the pair qualified for the bride chamber.—Lansing Journal.

As the identity of "Pitcher" Raymond of Freeport seems a mystery known only to Moriarity, it might be well for La Crosse to investigate the "ringer."

And Ours Too, Oscar

Oscar Ukkestad started west Monday. His objective point we are not certain of, but he will stop at Barnesville. ### A Foxy Umpire

There was rather a noisy ball game here Sunday between the two local teams. Jim Deah acted as umpire on the condition that his decisions should not be disputed. Score 22 to 22. Jim's decisions were the cause of the tie.—Vinegar Hill News.

It does beat all how the metropolitan corporation papers try to roast Bryan, and how the little corporation sheets in the country copy and comment.

If "The Umpire" at the theater Monday has half as much trouble as some of the real boys in the state league the show should be worth seeing.

AUTO IS SO FAST WEDDING IS OVER JUST IN TIME

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 13.—Using a big touring car to hurry the young woman from the home of her parents, Orlando S. Peabody, a Chicago youth yesterday snatched a bride from under the nose of Mayor George Parsons of Cairo, Ill., and much to the mayor's chagrin got to the Mound City, a few miles away before any veto message could be sent to the minister.

The bride was Miss Blanche Parsons, 18 years old, daughter of the mayor. Young Peabody took her from her home, made the trip to Mound City at forty miles an hour, called upon Rev. George Fidler, a Mound City clergyman, and was kissing his bride when Mayor Parsons' forbidding order arrived. The interdict being too late, no harm was done, but the mayor of Cairo was said to be an angry official last night.

The groom, who is 27 years old, is a son of Sergt. Peabody, an official of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, who resided in Chicago for some time, but who died several years ago. Orlando went to Hyde Park high school for a few years and formed a wide circle of acquaintances. On leaving school he embarked in business, and recently is said to have been connected with the Ayer R. Lord Tie company. A sister, Mrs. P. S. Bird, lives on Ellis avenue.

Three months ago Peabody went to Cairo and within a few days had made an impression upon the maids and matrons of that city. He was called both rich and handsome, and this impression grew to a conviction when the young man brought into town the largest automobile ever seen there. His staff was now in the ascendancy.

Among the young women met by Peabody was Blanche Parsons, one of the belles of the city and the idol of the Parsons household. Peabody spent money liberally and was making fine headway with the girl, when, unexpectedly, her father notified him that he was not welcome at the home of his adored and that his attentions to Miss Parsons must cease.

Mr. and Mrs. Peabody accompanied by friends went to a suburban station on the Illinois Central and caught a train for St. Louis. None of the young man's relatives could be reached last night, but several friends who heard the story said they were not surprised.

Mayor Parsons collapsed when he heard of the wedding and last night he was under the care of a physician.

Mrs. Parsons, stepmother of the young woman, is confined in an eastern sanitarium and the sole duty of looking over the daughter's social affairs has fallen upon Mayor Parsons. There are two other daughters, but Blanche was the oldest and as accounted the most attractive.

When young Peabody was told to cease his attentions to Miss Parsons the young woman protested to her father, but without effect.

"No, that young man shall not enter my door, again," said Mayor Parsons firmly, and that ended it, for the mayor is not given to wool-gathering.

And so it happened that the old plan of fooling papa and getting into the papers as the bright particular stars in an elopement drama was formulated. One week ago arrangements were made. Miss Parsons secretly carried her clothing away from her father's home, piece by piece, and eventually shipped it all to St. Louis in readiness for the day when she would reach that city as Mrs. Peabody.

The rest was easy. Yesterday morning Miss Parsons went to call on a girl friend. Soon a thirty-horsepower motor car puffed up to the house and into the tonneau clambered Miss Parsons, Mr. and Mrs. Ned Aisthorpe, Miss Mattie Mulvihill, and William Burke of Cairo. With the throttle open and "going some," the great machine emulated the Elsie Janis car in "The Vanderbilt Cup," and in ten minutes, more or less, was in front of Rev. George Fidler's Methodist parsonage in Mound City.

Just after the congratulations had been given Mayor Parsons was announced to be on the telephone, "roaring his objections."

HERO IN DISGUISE.

This is the tale of the Muggsy, wickedest lad in the state. Tough as a ten cent beefsteak, without a redeeming trait; Known as the village terror; Proud he was head of the gang; Knowing ones all predicted Muggsy was born to hang— Said he would wake some morning Strung to a pole or tree. Was that the fate of Muggsy? Was it? Just wait and see.

Strolling along one morning, Tough as an owl unbilled, Muggsy beheld a street car— Right in its path a child! Innocent little creature Chid in a pinafore; Dirt on its face was plenty, Though there was room for more. Did he rush in and save it, Scorning reward or fee, Act like a real stage hero? Did he? Just wait and see.

Baby that played so sweetly, Innocent, young and glad, Was a policeman's daughter; Muggsy's despised its dad. Did he for that, you wonder, Stand like a fellow dead? No. For he grabbed the street car, Tossing it over his head, Killing some forty people, Others are crippled yet, Car was a wreck, but Muggsy Rescued that child, you bet.

Just because it is a good thing to miss a meal occasionally when a man has dyspepsia or when he hasn't got the price, some people jump at the conclusion that fasting will cure corns, warts and a few of the other stubborn diseases which the patent medicines find such easy money.

While the treatment may have a beneficial effect on that most annoying ailment known as financial embarrassment, it is very doubtful if it will cure all other trouble, even though persisted in for months at a time. We do not remember reading that prisoners of war became so husky their friends wouldn't know them when subjected to the treatment without a cent extra for professional advice.

NOTABLE BIRTHDAYS.

Cyrus Adler.

Dr. Cyrus Adler, probably the greatest American authority on Jewish history and archaeology, was born in the town of Van Buren, Ark., Sept. 13, 1863. His early education was received from private tutors. Later he attended the University of Pennsylvania, from which he was graduated in 1883. Since his graduation his entire time has been devoted to study and to his work as a writer and instructor in Semitic languages at Johns Hopkins University, serving at the time as librarian of the Smithsonian Institution. In 1892 he went abroad as special commissioner of the World's Columbian Exposition to Turkey, Egypt, Morocco, Algiers, Tunis and other countries. In 1898 he represented the government of the United States at the conference to discuss an international catalogue of scientific literature. Dr. Adler has written many articles on Semitic philology, Assyriology, Oriental archaeology, comparative religion, bibliography, etc. He was the editor of the Jefferson Bible and also one of the editors of the Jewish Encyclopedia.

You can obtain Certain Body-Building Results by Using GRAPENUTS FOOD.

QUESTIONING A FRIEND

If one takes the trouble to carefully question a person that has been using Grape-Nuts Food for two or three weeks, the facts will be brought out that gradually there comes over the body a feeling of increased strength, particularly of mental strength and ability.

The mind works clearer and more actively when it plays upon a brain that is refreshed, rebuilt and properly constructed by the food elements intended by Nature for such work.

This is a profound fact regarding Grape-Nuts. The Food contains just the kind of material Nature must have to unite with albumen, from which to rebuild the gray matter in the brain and nerve centers throughout the body. Therefore the user can expect and obtain a definite result from the regular use of Grape-Nuts.

SHOT AT WHILE VIS- ITING HUSBAND

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Sept. 13.—While attempting to interview her husband, whom she deserted several months ago for Peter Lehnen, a mail carrier, Mrs. Sadie Eberle narrowly escaped being shot yesterday by her enraged spouse. Eberle discharged both charges of a double-barreled shotgun at his wife, but the shot missed her. A buggy in which she was seated was riddled, and the horse was injured. Eberle was not arrested. Mrs. Eberle returned to this city from St. Louis Sunday in company with Lehnen.

LUXURIOUS PRIVATE CAR FOR KING

(Tribune Special Service.)

PARIS, Sept. 13.—King George of Greece, the thriftiest monarch of all Europe, is having a new special railway carriage built for himself in France which promises to achieve a record in elaborate decoration. It will contain a drawing room, a dining room, two bedrooms, a dressing-room and a study. The decoration is of an entirely of lilies and convolvulus, enamelled on the earthenware. The furniture is to be mostly in William Morris style. Skylights will be let in the roof of the car of orange and purple stained glass. Friends of King George were considerably surprised when they learned he was going in for such luxuries, for heretofore he has been regarded as anything but a spender.

Oh, billing and cooing is all very nice. As those who have tried it declare. And often it leads to a laudable splice With no end of trials and care.

Never Grows Old.

A Philadelphia expert who may or may not know what he is talking about claims that the charming members of the female sex cease to be girls at the immature age of thirty-five and straightway become women.

This in some parts of the country would be regarded as a base slander. While some enterprising ladies are grandmothers at that age, yet there are others who, while they do not play with dolls, still insist that they are girls and they don't care who knows it.

There is no arbitrary rule that may be made to apply in all cases. Much depends on temperament and the charity of the neighbors. But, still, such business is it anyway if a girl wants to be a girl at fifty? No man of refinement would ask her if she got seakick coming over in the Mayflower, even though he wanted to know. The Philadelphia expert might have been in much better business.

Enlarged Pores.

The best way to correct a case of enlarged pores is to lay down certain hygienic rules of living and stick to them. Drink a great deal of water, so as to keep the kidneys in a perfectly healthy condition. Eat fruit to keep the digestive organs active. Take a course of complexion treatments that include massage and electricity. The idea is to set the glands and blood vessels about their business, so the skin will refine itself. It is when the pores are inactive and in an unhealthy state that they become small indentations. Use the complexion brush every night with warm water and pure castile soap, afterward applying creme marquis. The friction is good, and the habit of cleanliness is always commendable.

This word of late has been in everyone's mouth, and many are wondering what the word signifies, though no one has yet been found, who will deny that NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE does the work. Well, for the information of thousands of people who like to know all about a good thing, we would say that HERPICIDE means, a destroyer or killer of "Herpes." Now "Herpes" is the family name of a disease caused by various vegetable parasites. A similar microbe causes dandruff, itching scalp, and falling hair; this is the microbe that NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE promptly destroys; after which the hair grows. Sold by leading druggists. YALE ELOPER SEEKS DIVORCE

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 13.—Edwin Jenette Norton, son of Edwin Norton, the wealthy cannery of Detroit, yesterday began a suit for divorce from his young bride, whom he has not seen since just after they eloped and were married last January. His wife was Miss Josephine Birney and they were married in Bridgeport. They planned to keep the affair secret until after the young husband had finished his course in the university, but a month later the justice of the peace who performed the ceremony made formal announcement to the police authorities and the elder Norton took his son out of college and sent him to Europe.
Detectives were employed to shadow the bride. The plea for divorce states that young Mrs. Norton went to a Hartford hotel April 11 and remained one week with another Yale man named George McArthur.
Mrs. Norton last night denied the charges and said she was about to start a suit against her father-in-law for heavy damages, alleging that he had alienated her husband's affections by conspiracy with Carl Conway, Yale '09, who married Norton's sister. Conway is in business on Jackson boulevard, Chicago.

TO DIE IN ELECTRIC CHAIR

(Tribune Special Service.)
COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 13.—The final tests have been made and everything placed in readiness in the state prison annex for the electrocution of Butler Styles, the negro murderer. The electrocution is to take place at an early hour tomorrow morning. The crime for which Styles is to pay the death penalty was the murder of Guard Moorehead in the prison about a year ago.

DENATURIZED ALCOHOL PROMISES TO BENEFIT THE WESTERN FARMER

The passage of the free alcohol bill during the last session of Congress will doubtless give, as intended, great impetus to the manufacture of alcohol, which will now be used quite freely in the arts and as fuel. Heretofore, the tax of $2.20 per gallon, levied by the government, quite effectually prevented the general use of alcohol. It is reasonable to expect that denaturized alcohol will be extensively used in manufacturing dye stuffs and chemicals, which are now almost entirely imported from Europe. The term "denaturized" means the addition of some foreign substance which renders the alcohol unfit for making whisky or beverages. Frequently the term implies the use of wood alcohol, which, as is well known, is very poisonous. Denaturizing in no way effects the solvent properties of alcohol.
Alcohol is obtained by the fermentation of some substance such as sugar, starch, grain or potatoes. The strongest alcohol used is about ninety-five per cent pure, and the price varies from $2.30 to $2.50 per gallon, showing that the greater part of the cost is due to the $2.20 tax per gallon levied by the government. Wood alcohol is used quite extensively in the manufacture of paint, varnish and shellacs, but is inferior to ordinary alcohol and is detrimental to the health of those who work with it.
The opinion has been expressed by an authority that the territory along the lines of the Burlington Route is one of the greatest natural fields in the United States for the manufacture of alcohol. First of all there is the abundance of grain and potatoes from which alcohol can be made. Then there is the ample supply of water and coal and the good transportation facilities. The very fact that alcohol can be made from grain and potatoes insures better markets for those already ready staple crops in Burlington territory. Another advantage in this connection is that early frost, which occasionally damages the corn crop, does not lessen its value for distilling purposes. It is also true that potatoes of an inferior grade or wholly undesirable for household consumption can be utilized in making alcohol.

At the Nebraska Experiment Farm on the Burlington, near Lincoln, 500 bushels of potatoes per acre have been raised. A bushel of potatoes will make a gallon of alcohol, so that it is evident potatoes would pay enormous dividends. However it is the opinion of experts that our first industrial alcohol will be made from grain. It is the farmer who is in position to profit from the alcohol industry, for alcohol as a fuel is going to do wonders for him. It is confidently expected that denaturized alcohol will be largely used for heating, lighting, and fuel. While it has only about half the heating power of kerosene or gasoline, it is far superior in other respects. For instance, it is much safer and can be easily controlled. While denaturized alcohol may not soon displace gasoline or kerosene, this product is absolutely unlimited, whereas gasoline, for instance, represents only about two per cent of all the petroleum refined, and the demands now made on it can only force up the price. The farmer who is to produce corn and potatoes for the manufacturer of alcohol is, however, to share even more intimately in the profits, for he can utilize it in his home and on the farm. Alcohol is now used in small portable lamps which give all the effects of a mantle burner heated by gas. As a motive power, it will be of even greater value for the farmer can use it to make his butter, grind his feed, pump his water or turn it to any other use on the farm.
Statistics of the ways and means committee of the House of Representatives show many places where alcohol can be produced at a cost of twenty to twenty-five cents per gallon. Moreover, the refuse matter can be used as cattle feed. When this cost is compared with the $2.20 tax per gallon, the enormous saving in production which comes with all the new enterprises, improvements in machinery and other conditions will eventually reduce this cost, so that alcohol is certain to become one of the cheapest fuels ever produced.

CHINKS TO REFORM NAMES BECAUSE OF TELEGRAPH TROUBLE

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—The Western Union Telegraph Company has received a communication from Chow Wang Pang, director of the imperial Chinese telegraphs at Shanghai, under date of Aug. 1, stating that "the developments of telegraphs and posts in the empire of China has necessitated that a uniform system of romanization of Chinese city names should be adopted, and for this purpose a special committee was appointed." This committee consisted of Toati Chow Wang Pang and F. N. Dressing of the imperial telegraph, H. B. Morse and W. Bright of the imperial customs, Count De Galimbert and H. W. Brazier of the imperial posts and W. F. Tyler, imperial Chinese coast inspector.
As a result of their work a uniform spelling has been adopted, and in the future will be applied to all Chinese names, the romanization of several Chinese telegraph stations being altered in accordance therewith.

NEGRO BISHOP WANTS HIS RACE TO RETURN TO AFRICA

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—The Rt. Rev. Henry M. Turner, senior bishop of the African Methodist Episcopal church, a strong advocate of negro emigration to Africa, is in this city with the hope of interesting capital in a project to start a direct steamship service from Atlanta or some other southern town to the west coast of Africa.
"The majority of the American people don't know," said the bishop, "how alarming conditions are becoming for the negro. They are growing more terrible from day to day."
"Unless something is done to relieve the country of several millions of negroes, there is no telling what may happen."
Bishop Turner said the governments of the west coast of Africa would welcome to their shores thrifty, industrious American negroes.
"Lynchings, burnings, and the murder of negroes here are plagues God inflicted on the race to drive it to Africa, where it can build up a great country," declared the bishop.

PHILOSOPHY OF AN 8 HOUR DAY

(By KENNETT HORNER.)

A hundred years ago, when Boston was the center of industrial activity, fourteen hours by the clock was the standard of time for a day's labor. Within the twenty-five years following a sentiment sprung up for a twelve hour day, which by agreement between the wage-earners and the wage-payers, was finally adopted. Still later ten hours was agreed upon, and the past quarter of a century, eight hours has been the popular time; but ten hours is still the standard among many kinds of industries. One might conclude from the record of the past that the time for a day's activities will grow less as the country develops in resources and that soon six hours and possibly within the next half century four hours may become the recognized time for a day's labor. The socialists tell us that if a man is 46 years of age and of average ability, and has labored effectually in creating the wealth of this for twenty-six years, he has earned and should possess his share of the wealth that has been created during that period, and in fact would, if wealth were distributed as earned.
Let us look for some scientific source for authority on this matter. Masonry, generally acknowledged the deepest work of its kind, teaches eight hours for labor, eight hours for rest and recreation. Science today goes a step farther and teaches eight hour average, claiming that man is only at his best mentally from three to five hours a day and physically from three to five hours, or four hours average physically, in the active growing hours of the day; (the forenoon,) and four hours average mentally in the waning hours of the day; reserving the evening hours for the exercise of the emotional and spiritual folds of life. A man cannot carry a hod all day (even eight hours) and develop mentally, and he cannot devote more than eight hours average to labor and give due attention to the emotional and spiritual folds of life. Besides he cannot develop the genius that lies dormant in his nature if more than eight daily are absorbed in the struggle for existence. Not only should he labor but eight hours a day, but those hours should be in harmony with the sun. The mechanical habit of beginning the day's activities at some stated hour by the clock is unnatural and out of harmony with the sun's influence. The sun opens and governs the day and not the clock. The clock is never in harmony with sun time, except at midday and midnight. For on June 22nd the sun opens the day at 4 A. M. in this latitude, and on Dec. 22nd at 8 A. M. central time. There occurs a difference in the opening of day of 1 1/4 minutes daily. Now if the sun's influence upon the earth were immediate, the proper time to arise would be with the sun each day; but the sun's influence is not fully felt as the days grow gradually longer or shorter. For instance from March 22 to June 22nd, the spring period, the days reach the maximum of length, and this law holds good through each of the four periods. From Sept. 22 to Dec. 22 the days grow shorter, but do not fully feel the loss of the sun's influence until Dec. 22 to March 22, although at that time the days are growing longer. Taking eight hours daily as a standard, we should be active eight hours in the spring period. This would be in harmony with the natural law. This would average eight hours for the year and is the least division for those who are not exposed to the rays of the sun or artificial heat. For persons who labor out doors or in foundries, machine shops, plow works, etc., the best hours would be the first four of the day and the last four of the day, with an intermission in the middle of the day, except in the winter months, when there would be no time for an intermission. It is well known to science today that while six hours is enough sleep in the summer, and eight hours in spring or autumn, ten hours is required in mid-winter. A person who works ten hours in summer should work but six hours in winter, and the person who does work ten hours a day in midwinter, works as great a portion of a day as though he put in 16 1/2 hours in the midsummer. But the greatest reason perhaps why we should recognize eight hours as an average day's labor, is because tests repeatedly made in Europe have repeatedly proven that men not only accomplish as much in eight hours as in ten, but they perform the work better. For proof read the article in October 1905 Review of Reviews. In endeavoring to create sentiment for an eight hour day, one finds as much opposition among wage earners as among wage payers, as the former often do not possess any knowledge of this natural law, and are governed by fear in their views. Since the eight hour day has been adopted by the Typographical Union, the records show a decrease in the death rate and an increase in the birthrate. Is this not a favorable sign? It suits our president the great Teddy. The fact of the matter is that the laws often are about as little understood by people of all classes as the principles of scientific and modern (not utopian) socialism, which is often confounded with anarchism. Let us start the ball rolling by creating a sentiment for an eight hour day. The labor unions and all wage earners should work for it. The drawback lies with them, more than with the wage payers. Then, put it into effect by Sept. 22 and we can comfort ourselves. We will not have to answer—so far as this matter is concerned—to the God that made us and bade us be progressive.

POLITICS AND POLITICIANS' DOINGS

Mayor Tom L. Johnson of Cleveland is of the opinion that Mr. Bryan's advocacy of Government Ownership of railroads will force Mr. Roosevelt to run for President again.
George A. Carden of Dallas, the new chairman of the democratic state committee of Texas, was a newspaper man in Chicago before he went into law and politics.
Senator Tillman's opinion of the Bryan home-coming: "This great hooray in New York is legitimate in a way, and yet there is an element of hidden management in it, a slight odor of the manufactured product."
John W. Langley, disbursing and appointment clerk of the census office recently resigned to accept the republican nomination for congress in the 10th Kentucky district.
New Orleans is possessed with the idea that the next Democratic National Convention should be held there. The Crescent City has never entertained a national convention.
Before the Bryan boom gathered strength in the central west, Senator Bailey of Texas was much talked of for the democratic presidential nomination, and some of his friends would not be surprised if he gets back into the race.
In no state in the Union are the republicans displaying more activity in the present campaign than in Missouri. The campaign has begun in earnest and from now on the state will be flooded with republican oratory. Some of the noted speakers to be heard are Secretary Shaw, Vice President Fairbanks, Speaker Cannon and Congressman James E. Watson of Indiana.

How can "Boss" Murphy of Tammany give his support to Hearst for the governorship. It was scarcely six months ago that Hearst's New York paper, in a leading editorial, addressed Murphy as follows: "You have committed crimes against the people that will send you for many years to state prison, if the crime can be proved against you. If you ever sit in the prisoner's dock, you will not come out, except in striped clothing."

Boot and Shoe Workers Elect

(Tribune Special Service.)
BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 13.—Pursuant to a resolution adopted at the recent Milwaukee convention the locals of the Boot and Shoe Worker's Union throughout the country are taking a referendum vote today for national officers, and questions affecting the national organization. The result is awaited with keen interest, owing to the strife between the Tobin and Hickey factions for control of the organization. The general board of election inspectors will meet in Boston on September 24 to count the vote.

READY TO UNVEIL M'KINLEY STATUE

(Special Tribune Service.)
COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 13.—All arrangements are perfected for the ceremonies tomorrow in connection with the unveiling of the McKinley Memorial. There will be no parade. Old soldiers present, however, will be given positions of honor. The indications are that every county of the state will be represented at the unveiling. Many public men of prominence will be here also from other parts of the country. Governor A. L. Harris will preside and the two principal speakers will be Judge William R. Day of the United States Supreme Court and Senator John W. Daniel of Virginia. Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth, who will unveil the statue, arrived in Columbus today with her husband, Congressman Nicholas Longworth. Mr. and Mrs. Longworth will be guests at a reception in their honor to be given at the Hotel Hartman this evening by Attorney General and Mrs. Wade H. Ellis.

WYOMING DEMOCRATS

(Tribune Special Service.)
CHEYENNE, Wyo., Sept. 13.—Democrats of Wyoming assembled in this city today to nominate a full ticket. The indications are that Senator S. A. D. Keister of Lander will be nominated to oppose Governor Brooks. Hon. T. S. Taliaferro of Rock Springs likely will be chosen to make the race for Congress against Congressman Frank W. Mondell, who has been renominated by the republicans. Luke Voorhees of Cheyenne appears to be the only candidate for the nomination for secretary of state. The candidates for state treasurer, supreme judge, auditor and superintendent of public instruction are in doubt. There appears to be no opposition among the delegates to resolutions favoring the candidacy of Mr. Bryan.

Sheriff's Sales on Execution

Notice is hereby given that by virtue of an execution issued out of the Circuit court of La Crosse county, Wisconsin, in an action wherein Catherine Oehler was plaintiff and Mrs. W. J. (Sophia) Cameron was defendant and to me directed and delivered against the property of the defendant, and for want of personal property of the said defendant subject to seizure and sale on execution whereof the amount of such execution, or any part thereof could be made, I have seized, levied upon and taken all the right, title and interest that said defendant, Mrs. W. J. (Sophia) Cameron had on the 26th day of December, A. D. 1905, (that being the day upon which the judgment on which said execution was issued was docketed in La Crosse county) or has since acquired in and to the following described real estate lying and being situated in the county of La Crosse and state of Wisconsin, to-wit: The undivided one-half (1/2) of lot No. eight (8), block No. four (4) of Mons Anderson and B. E. Edward's addition to La Crosse, Wisconsin, and the undivided one-half (1/2) of lot number five (5), block number eight (8) of Mons Anderson and B. E. Edward's addition to La Crosse, Wisconsin, according to the recorded plat of said addition of record in the office of the register of deeds of La Crosse county, Wisconsin; subject, however, to homestead rights and the dower interest of Taaline Sandbo, which I will on Saturday, the 20th day of October, A. D. 1906, at the hour of 10 o'clock in the forenoon of said day, at the east front door of the court house, in the city and county of La Crosse and state aforesaid, expose for sale and sell at public vendue to the highest bidder, for cash, or so much thereof as will satisfy said execution and subsequent costs.

Dated, sheriff's office, La Crosse, Wis., this 6th day of September, A. D. 1906.
JOHN S. HOUGEN,
Sheriff of La Crosse County, Wis.
CHAS. B. MILLER,
Attorney for Plaintiff.

Notice is hereby given that by virtue of a certain mortgage dated November 21, 1888, Thomas Kinney and Eliza Kinney, his wife, of the county of La Crosse and state of Wisconsin, conveyed to Henry P. Magill of the same place, the following described real estate situated in the county of La Crosse, and state of Wisconsin, to-wit: Lots numbered Eleven and Twelve in block numbered Six of Scott's addition to the city of La Crosse, Wis., according to the plat of such addition now of record in the office of the register of deeds in and for La Crosse county aforesaid, that since the making of said mortgage the above described lot numbered Twelve in said block numbered Six has been duly released from said mortgage.

That said mortgage was recorded in the office of the register of deeds of La Crosse county, Wis., on the 21st day of November, 1888, at 4 o'clock, p. m., in volume 39 of mortgages, on page 396.

That said mortgage and debt thereby secured were thereafter sold, assigned and transferred to Mary McLaughlin, by an instrument in writing, duly witnessed, signed and acknowledged, and that said instrument of assignment was on the 30th day of April, 1891, at 2 o'clock, p. m., duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds of La Crosse county, Wis., in volume 44 of mortgages on page 252.

That said mortgage and debt thereby secured were thereafter sold, assigned and transferred to Angus Cameron, by an instrument in writing, duly witnessed and signed; and that said instrument of assignment was on the 30th day of April, 1891, at 2 o'clock, p. m., duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds of La Crosse county, Wis., in volume 44 of mortgages, on page 252.

That said mortgage and the debt thereby secured were thereafter sold assigned and transferred to Eliza Kinney by an instrument in writing, duly witnessed and signed, and that said instrument of assignment was on the 9th day of December, 1905, at 4:40 o'clock, p. m., duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds of La Crosse county, Wis., in volume 67 of mortgages on page 473.

That said mortgage and debt thereby secured were thereafter sold, assigned and transferred to Sarah A. Fuller, by an instrument in writing, duly witnessed, signed and acknowledged, and that said instrument of assignment was on the 11th day of August, 1906, at 9:50 o'clock a. m., duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds of La Crosse county, Wis., in volume 67 of mortgages, on page 616.

That said mortgage was given to secure the payment of a certain coupon bond bearing even date therewith, for the sum of Two Hundred Dollars payable three years thereafter, with interest at the rate of eight per cent per annum, payable semi-annually, to said mortgagee or his executors, administrators or assigns.

That default has been made in the payment of the said coupon bond and mortgage and that there is now due on the said coupon bond and mortgage from the said Thomas Kinney and Eliza Kinney, his wife, to the undersigned Sarah A. Fuller, the owner and holder thereof, at the date hereof the sum of Two Hundred Dollars, principal and the sum of Two Hundred and Sixty-seven and 75-100 dollars, interest thereon, amounting in the aggregate to the sum of Four Hundred and Sixty-seven and 75-100 dollars, and that no action has been commenced at law or in equity to recover said sum so due, or any part thereof.

That said mortgaged premises will be sold at public auction, sale to the highest bidder at the court house in the city of La Crosse, in the county of La Crosse, and state of Wisconsin, on the 15th day of October, 1906, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of said day.

Dated at La Crosse, La Crosse county, Wisconsin, August 27, 1906.

L. W. Gosnell, Sarah A. Fuller, Attorney for Sarah A. Fuller, assignee.
